The following is from J. Ed. Clark, Esq., Gryville, Ill. Two of my children and myself have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup with marked good effect and they are all in his praise.

"And every shepherd tells his tale, under the hawthorn in the dale" and on such occasions every shepherd takes cold, and suffers tortures with neuralgia until a sensible, well-informed citizen advises him to use Salvation Oil.

"Merrily, Merrily, shall I live now," the little girl said, "for I am not to be kept in because of that horrid neuralgia. My mamma has bought a bottle of Salvation Oil from the druggist and it cost only 25 cents a bottle."

Don't fail to attend the regular meeting of the Harrison and Morton League at the Cadets Armory Tuesday evening, December 15th.

New Jersey has a Baptist minister who claims to have baptised more people than any other man in his church. The community in which he resides has been grieved over his stubbornness that has interfered with his pastoral duties. A physician recommended Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and consequently there will be baptism in his church next Sunday.

THE COLUMBIA DAILY CALENDAR.

An old friend in a new dress, and an article that has come to be one of the indispensable of an editor's desk, comes to hand in the Columbia Daily Calendar for 1892. The Calendar is in the form of a pad containing 367 leaves, each 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches; one for each day of the year, to be removed daily, and one for the entire year. Each slip bears a paragraph pertaining to cycling or some kindred subject. At the bottom of each leaf is a blank for memoranda. The stand is an entirely new departure, being made of sheet metal finished in ivory black, and is very compact. At the close of the year the stand will be available for another pad. This is the seventh issue of this now well-known Calendar, yet all the matter is fresh and new and comprises notable events in cycling, opinions of physicians, clergymen, hints about road making, and numerous other topics.

DEATHS.

Dr. C. M. Hammett, Health Officer, presents the following report for week ending November 28, 1891:

Number of deaths, 111; white, 67; colored, 44. Death rate per 1,000 per annum; white, 20.0; colored 28.6. Total population, 23,000. 37 were under five years of age; 20 were under one year old, and 17 over 60 years. 9 of the deaths occurred in hospitals and public institutions.

The deaths by classes were as follows: Zymotic, 19; constitutional, 30; local, 19; developmental, 8; violence, 5.

The principal causes of death were: Croup, 2; diphtheria, 6; consumption, 19; diarrhoeal, 1; typhoid fever, 7; Malarial fever, 1; pneumonia, 11; congestion of the lungs, 1; bronchitis, 4; Kidney diseases, 4; meningitis, 3; cancers, 2.

Births reported: 24 white males, 18 white females; 18 colored males, 14 females. Marriages reported: 34 white; 7 colored. Still-births reported: 4 white; 3 colored.

There were twenty more deaths in the last week than in the previous week. The increase is mainly due to diseases of the respiratory organs. There were nineteen deaths from consumption as against twelve for the former report, and the mortality from acute lung diseases running up to sixteen as compared with nine in the same period. Diphtheritic cases fell from nine to six, while deaths from typhoid fever increased from four to seven. With the exception of those from diphtheria, no death from other contagious diseases occurred, although there may be sporadic cases of whooping cough and measles in remote parts of the city.

The mortality for the month just closing about equals that of the November of last year, when the deaths numbered three hundred and eighty and the death rate was 18.24. Taking into consideration the marked change in temperature and other meteorological conditions, the city has cause for congratulation over the absence of any epidemic threatening the general health.

FASHION NOTES.

Swede gloves are preferred for fall dress, and gauntlet gloves for walking.

The materials most favored for the new coats and wraps are the rough wools.

Capes are made of anything that appears to suit the maker's fancy, and are trimmed in the same way.

Wollen corodury is to be worn, especially in deep iron grays and neutral tints.

A novel costume in black material trimmed with jet and velvet. The front of the bodice is draped with spotted net.

A charming toilette of blue amazon cloth, the skirt bordered with velvet headed by braiding, and handsome braiding on the bodice and sleeves.

A very handsome dinner dress of pink bengaline, the narrower tablier framed by bands of black velvet and crossed at the edge by a draping of pink crepe de chine studded with jet.

Tea-gowns and tea-jackets are made of fine wool challie, foulard or China silk.

For quite cold weather, plushed in old gold, or ruby-red, lined with satin and bordered with fur, makes the richest and most useful tea-gown imaginable.

Mink or sable sleeves are introduced into long handsome cloaks made of fine ladies cloth.

Arabesque patterns in velvet are much liked and are showy and expensive; sometime the design is outlined in gold or silver cord.

The irrepressible ruffle is still everywhere to the fore.

The rougher and coarser the material the more fashionable it is considered.

Coral, amber and garnet are all worn as jewelry now, and the older fashioned the pieces look, the prettier they are considered.

Boots for ladies have squarish toes, a high vamp and straight edge to the but-tohsole.

There is no end to the styles of dressy neck-wear, but the most have chiffon or Mousseline de sole as the most potent factor.

Pink is the most fashionable tint of the season in Paris, a touch of the favorite hue appearing in almost every item of the feminine toilette.

Beliskirts will be popular all the season, though it is probable they will be shorter for street wear.

THE SHYSTER LAWYER.

The clock is on the strike of eight

The "shyster lawyer" says, 'tis late

And I must hasten to the court

For fear my rivals who report

There every morn before this time

Seize on some petty fees of mine.

His glasses, silk hat and cane

Are soon in place by rapid moves

And down the street the "solon"

sails

As proud as Albert Prince of Wales,

He reaches court and takes his post

Where he can see and be seen most.

A victim comes: "Madam, how do?"

"Tis been some time since I saw

you?"

"Sir, you mistake, 'tis the first day

That ever I was down this way."

"Why here today, I pray you tell?

Any friends back in the cell?"

"My little boy had a mishap,

The police caught him shooting

"crap."

Five dollars is the fine they say,

I have it here and want to pay,

Where is the clerk that takes the fine?

"I do not care to waste more time."

"No, madam, 'tis a serious charge

Few other crimes are half so large,

I hate to tell so sad a tale,

Your boy will get six months in jail.

Give me the V, I'll take his case

And guarantee his prompt release.

Poor foolish creature that she be

She lets this "shyster" get her V.

The case before Judge Kimball called

The "shyster" argued, plead and bawled.

Judge doomed the boy to certain

fate,

Increased the fine from five to eight.

The mother with a mournful face

Retired slowly from the place

Wiser far than when she came

And yet she thought it quite a shame,

That through the "shyster" and

her chap

She must spend thirteen dollars

for "crap."

FORMAL OPENING OF THE SOCIAL SEASON.

SOCIAL LEADERS OUT IN FULL FORCE

—A BAL-MASQUE—THE FORTU-

NATE ONES PRESENT—LOVELY

LADIES AND UNIQUE COS-

TUMES, ETC.

Those who were fortunate enough to be "in the swim" at the formal opening of our social season Friday evening the 4th, inst., certainly has the sympathy of the Bee. Society bells and beaux were out in full force at Beneficial Hall in 18th street, n. w., on the occasion of a grand bal-masque.

There were also present, a number of married couples who were honored with invitations. The evening being inclement, a large number of vehicles were in demand. A few minutes after nine o'clock the guest began to arrive, and the assistant janitor of the hall whose services had been engaged for the purpose, found himself hard pressed in superintending the conveyances and escorting the guest to the entrance of the hall. The committee of reception consisting of Miss Louise A. Smith, Mrs. Walter S. Thomas, and Madame Estren made every one feel comfortable and homelike.

At 9:30 o'clock the Italian orchestra under Prof. Prallo began the march "Social Greeting," after which the dances commenced. The scene was a beautiful one, and the affair truly enjoyable. Freund the celebrated French caterer furnished the supper. The company dispersed at 2 o'clock, after having enjoyed the pleasures of a delightful social gathering. Among those who appeared in costumes were Mrs. Walter S. Thomas as Indian Princess, Mrs. J. W. Malone (of Miss.) Scotch peasant, Mrs. Eva Carter, Spanish peasant, Mrs. Maria L. Brown, Bohemian girl, Mrs. Wm. Mayse, Snowflake, Miss Louise A. Smith, Brittany-bride, Miss Mary Parker, as Prosperine, Miss Venie McCoy, Gypsy, Miss Emma J. Among those not masked were Capt. Kelly, Mrs. Walton and son, Messrs. Beverly, Robinson, Fisher, Arnold, Johnson, Lee, Winston, and others whose names we fail to recall.

J. Coolidge
HARNES ATTACHMENT
Patented
NOVEMBER 13TH, 1888.

J. S. Coolidges Harness attachment is the best thing of the kind ever put on the market. It is so arranged that any one can secure it to any harness, in three minutes, without cutting the same in any way, right out in the street. It can be taken off the harness in two minutes, and the harness returned to its former style without the least trouble or exertion. It saves time in hitching and unhitching as a horse can be attached to the vehicle in less than 30 seconds and extricated in less than 5 seconds. It is an ornament to the harness and contains nothing in its parts to get out of order, the case being so constructed that the straps can be lengthened or shortened as is required. The Bolt is removable secured so as to allow the spring to be removed when worn. The particular advantage this device possesses over others consists in the construction of the case and arrangements of the straps, whereby the same may be attached to any harness without cutting the same, as has been heretofore necessary in order to use devices of this character.

To the loop of the Bolt may be attached lines 23, said lines being connected with the driver by suitable means, so that if the horse runs or becomes unmanageable, the tightening of the lines will draw the bolt 12, and the spring 24 will cast the plate 16 aside and release the animal from the vehicle. Any woman or child can hitch or unhitch a horse without the slightest trouble. Thousands of the attachments are being used every day.
